The Threatened Interference of President Harrison's Premier

IN THE ENGLAND-PORTUGAL MIX

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST PARNELL,

gal is still neute. There have been lively interchanges of dispatches, but the views of interchanges of dispatches, but the views of the disputants are as widely divergent as ever. Portugal says in effect, that she will not surrender, nor will she consent to refer the matter to arbitration. Lord Salisbury is also averse to arbitration, as England lost Delagoa Bay by that method, and has no friends among the possible arbitrators. friends among the possible arbitrators.

Salisbury insists that, as a preliminary to frontier negotiations, Major Serpa Pinto's recent actions shall be disavowed by the Lisbon Government. If that be done, the difficulty may be amicably arranged on the give-and-take basis. For the moment, the Portuguese Government is stiff-necked, and England is assembling a formidable squadron at Gibraltar, ready for a descent upon Lisbon whenever the word shall be given.

The announcement that Mr. Blaine is prepared to take a hand in the game of coereing Portugal has caused a sensation here Opinion is much divided on the desirability of Anglo-American co-operation. On the whole, Tories resent the idea, on the ground that the Government, having a chance of earning cheap glory, should not dim its lus-ter by admitting a foreign partner at the last moment. Curiously enough, two newspapers whose Curiously enough, two newspapers whose political opinions are at opposite poles welcome Mr. Blaine's entrance into the European arena, the Tory Evening Standard because the points at issue are of a character in which every commercial power is concerned, and the Endical Pull Mall Gazette because the ultimate ideal to which Englishmen should work is the establishment of an Anglo-American flag on all the seas, and it quotes that "everything which reminds the world that the Republic and Empire regard the English-speaking race as pire regard the English-speaking race as one entity, with common interests and a common object, is good."

A BOON TO RUMANITY.

Paris Attempting to Regulate Cab Fares by Means of Electricity.

THY CARLE TO THE DISPATCE.1 LONDON, December 28 .- Paris is about trying an experiment that if successful will prove a boon to humanity. An attempt is form price of $18 for a suit or overcoat. Real French Montegnac overcoats, goods oct $8 75 per yard in the piece, usually sold at $40 to $50, blue, black, gray or brown, some quilted satin to buttonhole, others plain silk or satin lined, will be sold tomorrow at $18. German imported Chinchilla overcoats, blue, black, brown, pearl, gray, drab and fancy colors, such as are usually found only in the custom tallering establishments. All magnificently lined and trimmed and worth from $30 to $40 will be sold tomorrow at $18. Real Carr's melton to be made to regulate cab fares automaticdial his present liability, half a franc, for taking the vehicle. As the cab proceeds the dial registers 25 centimes for each kilo-meter of the journey, so that the passenger can tell at any moment the number of miles be has gone and the exact fare he owes.

The seven systems are to be on trial for a menth, at the end of which time one will be adopted by the Government, and every cab in Paris provided with it.

SPLENDID PROPERTY FOR SALE.

The Wiltshire Estates of .n Notorious Mar quis la the Market IBT CABLE TO THE DISPATCE. LONDON, December 28.-The splendid Wiltshire property of the Marquis of Ailesbury, with which goes by the name of the Savernake Forest estates, is now up for sale. It comprises, beside the beautiful mansion and forest, 40,000 acres of corn land and pasture. Ailesbory's character is too well known to need recapitulation. He is nearly always pressed for ready money, for his noble heritage has been wasted in drunkenness and vice of the worst description. The Marchioness of Allesbury is Dolly Lester, formerly a music hall singer, by whom he has several chil-

MORE NAME THAN MONEY.

A German Duke of Small Income Wants to Marry a Princesa.

FBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCE. LONDON, December 28 .- The Princess Maud of Wales, it was said the other day, was to have married a Russian Prince, but the report does not seem to have been particularly well founded. Yesterday it was asserted that she is to be married to the only brother of the German Empress, a young Lieutenant in the German army, with a fortune something like £50 a year, who goes by the name of Duke Ernest of Schlesinghiolstein-Sonderburg-Augustenburg. To-day that announcement is also authoritatively denied. This was only to be ex-

If the daughters of the Prince of Wales are not exactly brilliant, they are not de-void of common sense and shrewdness, and certainly no well regulated young woman would care to be allied with a man who had no better name to offer her than that of the German princeling.

LONDON, December 28. — To-morrow Gladstone celebrates his 81st birthday, and already congratulations and presents are pouring in at Hawarden, where the postoffice authorities have made arrangements to keep the telegraph and postoffice open all day for the receipt of congratulations. The usual Gladstone banquet will be given at Chester by the party leaders Monday evening.

TURNED ON PARNELL.

Captalu O'Shea Brings a Serious Charge Against His Old Priend and Protector-Considered a Tory Scheme to Harm the Irish Leader.

IBT CABLE TO THE DISPATOR.

LONDON, December 28.—Captain O'Shea, who; after enjoying Mr. Parnell's friend-Arouses Opposition Among the Tories, but against him before the special commission, has filed a petition for divorce on the ground of his wife's intimacy with the Irish leader. The specific charges cover the period from early in 1886 until O'Shea betrayed his friends in the witness box, and the delay in bringing the action is, to say the least, Portugal and Eugland positively refuse to refer their difficulty to arbitration. The announcement that Blaine will take a hand in the matter has caused a sensation in Eugland. Captain O'Shea, so long a beneficiary of Parnell, has brought serious charges against the Irish leader. Gladstone celebrates to-day, his Sist birthday.

Bringing the action is, to say the least, curious. Until a court of law shall have decided the matter, the friends of Parnell will refuse to credit O'Shea's charges.

Mr. Parnell's position in Captain O'Shea's family has been known to the world for years past. He lived with them as one of the family and as their most trusted adviser and friend; he trequently helped Captain O'Shea with his purse, and acted as mediator in many troubles. There was never the elightest attempt at concealment. When O'Shea was in Parliament, for instance, he and Parnell always drove home together to the former's pretive suburban house at Northbank, Eltham. Everybody in the district knew Mr. Parnell, who was fond of driving out with Mrs. O'Shea and her children.

Mr. Parnell frequently escorted Mrs. O'Shea's Mr. Parnell frequently escorted Mrs. O'Shea in public, and always with Captain O'Shea's suggestions of evil, and never wearied of telling people that Parnell looked upon his wife as an elder sister, and himself as a brother. O'Shes, therefore, can't plead ignorance of what the world is saying, and he will have to explain why, with such knowledge in his possession, he continued to receive Mr. Parnell as a member of his household.

Few persons here doubt that O'Shea acting in the interests of those same Tory politicians who, having failed to defame Parnell by the aid of Richard Pigott, are now endeavoring to besmirch his moral character by means of Henry O'Shea.

Rheumatism

Is believed to be caused by excess of lactic acid in the blood, owing to the failure of the kidneys and liver to properly remove it. The acid at-tacks the fibrous tissues, particularly in the joints, and causes the local manifestations of the disease, pains and aches in the back and shoulders, and in the joints at the knees, ankles, hips and wrists. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilia a positive and permanent cure for rheumatism. This medicine by its purifying and vitalizing action, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, and also builds up and strengthens the whole body. "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and tound it excellent for rheumatism and dyspepsia. I suffered for many long years, but my complete recovery is due to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I rec-ommend it to every one because of its wonder-ful properties as a blood medicine." JOHN KULLMAN, 85 Chatham street, Cleveland, Ohio.

coast, has been sold to an English syndicate. It is generally known that English capitalists have been for several years negotiating for the purchase of this town, but for some unknown reason the sale was never consummated.

A cablegram was received here by Superintendent Hugh Dempsey, of the Southern Express Company, from Mr. James Flynn, the head of the English capitalists, and from the message, Dempsey says he has every reason to believe that the sale has been closed and payment arranged for. The syndicate intends developing the natural resources which this destined great city possesses. The price paid connat be learned.
